

THE CENTER FOR TROPICAL ECOLOGY & CONSERVATION
& ANTIOCH UNIVERSITY NEW ENGLAND

presents

Mexico: Conservation Strategies in a Megadiverse Country

Please Join:

Robin Martino

In June 2009, ES PhD student Robin Martino was chosen to participate in a workshop jointly sponsored by DIVERSITAS, an international program of biodiversity science and the National Science Foundation, on Biodiversity Information and Community-Based Use of Natural Resources in Mexico. The workshop's central goal was to provide 'on-the-ground' experience of biodiversity information and community-based natural resource management at the institutional and community level in one of the world's most biodiverse areas. Her brown bag talk will present some of the unique biodiversity conservation strategies the government and rural communities in Mexico are implementing to promote effective conservation actions.

When: Thursday December 3, 2009

Where: Sci Lab I

Time: 11:30-12:30

This is a brown bag series event and is open to the public...all are welcome!